THE PROSPECT OF A SAFER FUTURE IS WITHIN REACH – this is a collective aspiration and a mutual responsibility!

The World Health Report 2007 – A safer future: global public health security in the 21st century marks a turning point in the history of public health, and signals what could be one of the biggest advances in health security in half a century. It shows how the world is at increasing risk of disease outbreaks, epidemics, industrial accidents, natural disasters and other health emergencies which can rapidly become threats to global public health security.

The report explains how the revised International Health Regulations, which came into force this year, helps countries work together to identify, contain and control risks. The regulations are needed because no single country, regardless of capability or wealth, can protect itself from outbreaks and other hazards without the cooperation of others. Mental illness, including suicide, accounts for over 15 percent of the burden of disease in established market economies, such as the United States. This is more than the disease burden caused by all cancers. In fact, mental disorders are the leading cause of disability in the U.S. and Canada for ages 15-44, and YOU are seeing it in your practice.

General practitioners and mental health specialists, alike are interested in improving their diagnostic and counseling skills but some barriers remain. Both structural and educational initiatives are essential to enhance the quality of mental health care and GENERATIONS 2008 can provide the education and skill-building to help you improve your own diagnostic and therapeutic intervention practices.

Join GENERATIONS 2008 for its seventh year to increase your knowledge of the behavioral health and substance abuse issues facing your clients and today's society in order to develop and implement effective prevention and intervention / treatment programs and strategies – in communities and in individual practices and programs – public and private, to ultimately improve clinical practices and client care.

More specifically, by attending this program, you will also be able to:

- Gain effective working tools to properly intervene in these issues;
- Develop strategies to more effectively promote the healthy growth and development of individuals dealing with these issues;
- Familiarize yourself with current resources and resource needs; and,
- Gain tools to mobilize and develop / implement prevention and intervention programs.

SPEAKER HIGHLIGHTS

When you attend GENERATIONS 2008, you will benefit from an EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY to meet and learn from internationally renowned experts in the mental health and substance abuse fields. Each speaker has been individually selected and invited to join this program because of their clinical experience, reputation, presentation skills and, in some cases, requests from past attendees for ‘encores’!

JOHN BRADSHAW will open the conference with his dynamic energy and years of expertise as a primary figure in the contemporary self-help movement, particularly in the fields of family systems, co-dependency, and addictions and recovery. Nominated by his peers as one of the 100 Most Influential Writers on Emotional Health in the 20th Century, he has touched and changed millions of lives around the globe through his best-selling books, sold-out workshops and seminars, and especially his widely acclaimed PBS television series Bradshaw on the Family. Now, he can reach you directly as he shares his expertise in these areas as well as others such as divorce, inner child work, recovery, spirituality, and addictions – including sex, love, substances, and eating disorders. (See “Special Pre-Conference Workshop”)

In addition to this brilliant expert, the conference will provide you with other extraordinary faculty members who will challenge you to expand your clinical knowledge, gain new practice tools and develop resources to improve your daily practice as you reach out for that safer future.

For example the movement towards “Person-Centered Planning/Treatment” will be explored by NEAL ADAMS, MD, MPH – Director of Special Projects at the California Institute of Mental Health. In addition to perspectives from his own clinical practice providing psycho-pharmacotherapy for a range of psychiatric and substance abuse disorders, Dr. Adams will have the backing of his years of experience in public health administration where he has been actively involved in clinical, administrative and policy related activities. Dr. Adams received his MD from Northwestern University, his MPH from Harvard, and then completed his psychiatry residency at Stanford where he also served as a Robert Wood Johnson Clinical Scholar. Dr. Adams is board certified in general psychiatry and holds sub-specialty certification in addiction psychiatry. In addition to this rich background, Dr. Adams is an author who has held many national offices and is a frequent speaker on treatment plans, clinical outcomes management and evidence based practice.

Local experts will also be on-hand for you at GENERATIONS 2008 – including ELIZABETH F. HOWELL, MD - a specialist in general and addiction psychiatry who moved to Utah from Atlanta, Georgia to join the staff of the University of Utah Neuropsychiatric Institute. She will share local and national perspectives on the most cutting edge drug treatments for substance abuse. Then, following a plethora of insightful presentations to help you positively impact your clinical practice and client successes, ERUERA “ED” NAPIA from the Indian Walk-In Center will provide you with a highly entertaining, seasoned, yet fresh, challenging look at cultural competency as you return to your own daily practice with new insights.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF A RARE OPPORTUNITY

SPECIAL PRE-CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

Join JOHN BRADSHAW as he takes a small group through an intimate training of various issues confronting today's substance abuse and mental health professionals. Discover some of the latest research findings around the human brain and how those discoveries impact your own clinical practice and effectiveness with clients. Uncover, for example, the primary motivator of people and tap into the brain workings that will have the greatest impact on healing. Expand your practice beyond the traditional cognitive approaches into a new realm that will help you stay safe from your own emotional triggers in practice and, ultimately improve client success!

This program will take place on WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5TH from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Hilton Salt Lake City Center. Registration is separate from the conference (see "Registration Form") and will include lunch, breaks, and an additional 4 hours of continuing education. Special thanks to the Ark of Little Cottonwood for support of this workshop.

It is estimated that there are approximately 1 million persons addicted to heroin and two to three times that number addicted to prescription opioids. Buprenorphine, a milestone in the treatment of opioid addiction, is the only controlled substance approved for use in office-based settings. Yet, while it is a valuable tool for providers to use in treating addiction, its adoption into clinical practice is a major challenge.

This challenge will be confronted head-on in a special pre-conference evening training – "USING BUPRENORPHINE IN CLINICAL PRACTICE" on WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5TH from 5:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at the Hilton Salt Lake City Center. This distinctive workshop is designed to improve practitioner skills and confidence in initiating office-based buprenorphine treatment, expand clinical skills in the treatment of opioid dependence and improve patient care. Designed as a follow-up to the waiver training, this course is open to any professional with interest in the topic – including waived and non-prescribing physicians, nurse practitioners, addiction counselors, social workers, and others who encounter the challenging clinical issues of opioid addiction.

Special thanks to Elizabeth F. Howell, MD, Sean Ponce, MD and Michael Crookston, MD who will serve as faculty. Registration is separate from the conference (see "Registration Form") and will include a working buffet, breaks, the Utah ASAM Meeting, and an additional 3.5 credit hours.

Space for both pre-conference workshops will be limited. Don't be turned away - register today!
